

General

OCRE started its services to the dredging and construction industry in 2009. Ever since we are supplying qualified professionals and teams to this global market. OCRE contributes valuable cost and time saving experience in running projects, often in remote areas, by providing help with operational staff and (technical) personnel. We also supply support staff in document control, financial control, logistics and planning which can be important for project management during complex critical projects. We can supply individual professionals as well as entire specialist teams. If necessary we organise local payroll solutions.

OCRE is involved in the construction of a variety of offshore and nearshore/onshore projects. We have worked on dredging projects in The Netherlands, Gabon, Panama, Qatar, Benin, Angola, Nigeria, Russia, Kazakhstan and others. From landfalls to the widening and deepening of channels and lakes. We are best in building teams together with our clients. We have own personnel and have a vast network of specialists that can be mobilised when necessary. In areas where we anticipate shortage of professionals we train young professionals. OCRE can make a difference. A project is depending on its professionals and its management and support. We understand the requirements of our clients by listening, raising questions, checking and analysing. This results in a sound selection process so we can provide the best individuals and teams.

OCRE is NEN 4400-1 certified.

OCRE is partner of IND (ministry of security and justice), we employ highly skilled migrants.
